NORTHWEST NEWSHOUND

The summer hiatus is over and unbelievably, the first orienteer of the year event is looming on 9th March. Central - oops - Auckland Orienteers' Summer Series has provided valuable interim training, while being family-friendly and enabling families to both compete and child-mind.

Dave Middleton is currently wearing two hats, as Club President and Acting Club Captain. It would be great to have some new input into our club's "executive team", but even if you cannot commit yourself to the role of Club Captain, how about volunteering to set or co-ordinate one of the NWOC events this year? There are still a few gaps for co-ordinators in our schedule of club events - training can be provided.

All our club equipment is now installed at Mark Lawson's home, with the maps resident in his spare bedroom. Mark has just had improvements/repairs made to the gear wagon's springs and there is talk of having logos promoting orienteering painted on the wagon. Does anyone have signwriting skills?

People

The veteran NorthWest members have been active over summer: Peter Godfrey (M60) had a resoundingly successful time at the Masters

Games held in Wanganui in early February. He took the gold medal for the 2000m indoor rowing, a second gold for the duathlon and a bronze medal for M60 orienteering ahead of Bert Chapman. Not one to rest on his laurels, Peter also competed in the cycle time trial.

Michael Hood survived the gruelling 2 day Coast to Coast event to take out the Endurance Cup. His prize? $600 worth of training for next year's event. Prize or punishment?

We've heard that Lorri and Chris O'Brien have completed their epic walk down the South Island, but have no details yet as they are still en route home - via car.

Whangamata Wheekend

A superb run on a superb new map by Laurie and Judy. Unfortunately, some people who booked a run or the barbecue didn't turn up, so now Laurie and Judy are out of pocket. If you weren't able to make it to the event, please remember to send the money.

Events

The event on April 27th will probably be cancelled.

Next club meeting

The next club meeting will be held at 19:30pm on Thursday 13th March (please note that there is a permanent change to the second Thursday of the month) at the Middletons' home, 24 Shanaway Rise, Glenfield.

The April meeting will be held at 19:30pm on Thursday 10th April at Rob Garden's and Marquita Gelderman's home, 23 Nixon Road, RD2 Henderson.

AUCKLAND ACTUALITÉ

Katoa Po

Congratulations and very well done indeed to the Auckland Club "first" team who came 2nd at Katoa Po - an unexpected result, because of WACO's dominance of the event in recent years.

We managed to split the WACO teams, which came 1st and 3rd, with solid runs from all members of the team and a stunning finish from Rob Jessop.

(Katherine was rather alarmed at the Finish to be tagged by runners from four separate teams. Such was the shortage of juniors at the event, some teams had adopted her without letting her know!)

Magazines

The Club receives copies of the Australian and British national O mags: if you would like to be on the circulation list please contact Mark Roberts.

Next club meeting

The March Club meeting will be at the Powell residence, 23A Fernleigh Avenue, Epsom, on Wednesday 5th March. Please park out on the road. All Auckland Club members are welcome.

The April Club meeting will be on Wednesday 2nd April but the venue has not been agreed yet.

EASTER EVENT BULLETIN

The National Orienteering Squad needs you!!

Well, we need you to come along to our Easter Carnival. This is their major fundraising project for this year's World Championships in Norway and if you are undecided about attending, do them and you a favour and fill out the entry form now! (If you have lost it or never got one, ring Rob or Marquita on 412 8879 in the evening)

Entries are coming in from all over NZ and there are even a couple from overseas, so it promises to be a big and beautiful event. The accommodation at Ahuroa is EXCELLENT (as you would expect from a King's College venture), with a flying fox and climbing wall to keep you amused, and will be the central point for the Carnival. It would be a shame if Aucklanders decided to stay at home - the venues do involve a lot of driving from town, and the cost of the accommodation and meals would probably equate to the cost of petrol, so stay at Ahuroa where results will be on display, post-mortems will be held, and friendships made or renewed. Meals are available, too - if you order on the entry form.

We are excited about the new maps - we don't have many new maps in Auckland these days, so to have 3 in one weekend is special, and even with the hilly terrain, courses have been set to keep climb to a respectable level.

If you can, PLEASE come to the training camp. Our elite orienteers do try and give something back to the sport, and coaching others is probably one of the best ways they can do so. It is a camp for EVERYONE - you do not have to be fit, as you will learn so much even by listening, talking, walking etc. Even if you are experienced, you can still learn. Even the best orienteers in the world attend training camps as there is always plenty to learn from others. There will be both day sessions on maps, and evening talks.

Accommodation is also available at Ahuroa on the Friday and Saturday nights of the North Island Champs, with the bunkroom at $10/night. This will particularly suit those staying on after the Training Camp.

We look forward to seeing as many of you as possible there, and we are sure you will enjoy a great Carnival. If you need to know anything more, ring Rob or Marquita on 412 8879 in the evening.

KATOAO PO

WACO Wins Again at Night

For the second year in a row WACO dominated the All Night Relays last weekend. Although night orienteering is not strong in New Zealand, the location (always near the tourist resort of Lake Taupo in the centre of the North Island) and the timing in the hottest month of the year make this a popular event. Competitors this year were complaining about the heat at midnight!

WACO is a student-based club with members from Hamilton and Auckland and can call on many elite and near-elite competitors. On the other hand it has to borrow younger competitors to comply with the rules for the 7-person event. Its top team, named "See How Individuals Try Hard On Terrain" exhibited effort in its choice of team name, but it managed an 11-minute win over "The Upper Karakoram Kamchatka Korroboree" from the Auckland club (formerly known as Central).

6 minutes further back was WACO's second team "The Antidiseestablishmentarians"; Red Kiwis OC in Palmerston North were fourth, opting out of the bizarre name competition; and "Royal Galas" from the apple-growing area of Hawkes Bay were fifth.

In the 5-person regional competition for juniors, Wellington won from Auckland with a comprehensive 1-2 victory. This breaks a long period of dominance by Auckland, although Wellington gave notice at last year's Silva Secondary School Championships by taking four out of the six individual titles. Wellington's top two teams finished just 11 seconds apart and 25 minutes clear of the first Auckland team. Central Districts was 7 minutes further back, and the South Island was not represented.

MICHAEL WOOD [HVOC] ON ONET

It took me a long time to work out that Katoa Po was not the name of a map, but of an event, the All-night relays! This finally dawned on me when the event was held on two different maps in successive years. Later I realised that Po meant Night (as in Kakapo, the night parrot) and recognised Katoa from the normal greeting to a gathering Tena koutou katoa.

It's a great name, but I wonder if we have got it quite right? My friend Te Rangihau Gilbert, who was the presenter on Marae, tells me that in Maori (as in French) the noun generally precedes the adjective (though if katoa is used with a verb it often precedes the noun). So Po Katoa [night entirely] would perhaps be more natural.

MICHAEL HOOD [NWOC]

ON COMING LAST IN THE COAST TO COAST

Actually it's much better than coming second last - for coming last I got the huge Endurance Trophy presented to me on stage at Christchurch Town Hall, a $600 training voucher with Dave Wells ("we guarantee you will not win this prize next year!") and a dozen Speights (so acceptable to one's eldest daughter's boyfriend's father).

It took me 21 hours, and yet passed so fast and I was concentrating so hard that it took a day after I'd finished to unwind and realise it was over.

There are some things I will never forget: Kumara junction, a traffic jam at 6 in the dark morning, driving down to the bike racks before the start, electricity all around: the lonely timeless wait on the beach at Kumara for the start, grey dawn over the Alps, then the release of the run up the track to the waiting bikes.

Leading out a bunch on the bike and then puncturing, rumble of a punctured tyre on seal; walking with my bike in the morning sun, listening to the keas call in the hills above, knowing that the long wait for help was a fact but I could get uptight about it or relax and enjoy the walk; running last up the Deception river with the tailend Charlies who sweep up people, and telling them that I was going to finish and they should be clear about that, and seeing by their faces that they knew that. Racing down the boardwalk after the top of Goat Pass, and catching another runner.

Stopping to console another runner who'd torn a groin and, wrapped in a blanket, was waiting to be flown out (only 9 out of 250 individuals DNFd, and 3 of 150 teams); the silence of the shadows in the valley as we set out at 7.30 am in bunches of ten to cycle to the kayaks on the second day; a bunchride where I didn't puncture and rode fast in the quiet morning. Going through the Rockgarden Rapid so fast I wasn't sure I'd been through it till I came to the gorge itself further on; a man idly swinging a safety throwrope at a rapid, like a hangman testing a noose, what a focus!

The man who shouted to me to get over right at another tight J-bend rapid, but I had tipped out there in practice so took the chicken line by his very feet and survived; landing for a ten minute breather at Woodstock at the end of the gorge, and being told I was four hours inside the cutoff time!

The joy when I saw the bridge at the end of the kayak leg, and had only the bike across the Canterbury Plains left; the low blue line of Banks Peninsula 50 kms away across the flat plain, as I rode into a growing easterly; the cheers of growing numbers of spectators as I rode into Christchurch (they were waiting for Steve Gurney and Kathy Lynch, who were in the one day event so had given me a day's start - Steve caught me, but I held Kathy out by 10 minutes)

The encouragement as the one day competitors passed me - "good on you, go for it, not long now", enormous encouragement from such outstanding athletes at the end of their race, what a privilege to be in the same event; the speed and smoothness with which the final suburbs unrolled, and I slowly realised I had achieved a ten year dream, running across the sand to embrace Robin Judkins.

The faith and perseverance of Katherine and Taria, my support crew, and their smiles every time I saw them; I had the best crew, they had to be, otherwise I'd never have made it! Eating dinner at my friend's house in Christchurch, then going out for another dinner; every time I saw food I ate it for the next four days.

I'll be back, because I know now how to cut three hours off my time, by training less but with better quality. I just have to negotiate that with Vicky, who showed great restraint in not divorcing me last year. My coach has said just do nothing for three weeks and that feels wonderful now, but there is an 18 hour target out there, waiting, and some of the greatest scenery in the South Island unconquered, stone by stone, bend by bend, rapid by rapid, still out there. Not a race, more of an event, an experience, a challenge, a life.

Ouch

When PAPO ran a special event at Bottle Lake using the original B&W map, they made John Davies "unofficial" on the grounds that he had fieldworked it. In 1977.

ARCHIVES MAR '87

Ten years ago, 18 year old Alistair Landels of King's College was awarded a NZ Herald Young Sportsmans Award; Jeni Martin won the Brighthouse Trophy; and the NZ National Course Setting Competition, with 62 entries, was won by Ken Holst (senior) and Robert Browning (junior).

The Auckland Night Champs, preceded by a barbecue at Blue Gums, were held on Mission Coast Road. John Rix was fastest on course 1, 5.3km in 45 minutes. Sally Pilbrow was fastest woman over 3.2km in 47 minutes. The annual Night Champs seems to be a thing of the past.

SAOC members ran a training weekend at Jakeman's Reserve, Waiuku, only to have carloads of orienteers arrive on Sunday expecting an "event." With some rapid improvisation the training controls were used for three courses which everyone enjoyed. Who needs NZOF certification before they can set courses?

The 1987 OY season started with a CD event at Mangatangi Waihi and an AOA OY at Pollok - steep farmland with pockets of bush and deer for the early starters. W21E was won by a Swedish visitor, from Katie Fettes and Joanne Cunningham; while Rob Jessop beat Rob Garden and Kevin Ireland, covering 10km in 96 minutes.

Double for Orienteers in Kepler Challenge

Orienteers took the honours in both the men's and women's races in December's Kepler Challenge. This year New Zealand's premier mountain race, held over the 67km Kepler track, drew a field of 287, all of whom completed the race.

In the men's race, PAPO member Keith Murray led at every checkpoint, capitalising on the absence of six-time winner Russell Hurring to win in 4:50:02. In a brilliant display of front-running, Murray continued to extend his lead over Te Awamutu's Thomas Whitehead throughout the race, winning by over 17 minutes.

As expected, Australian national orienteering team member and Kepler Challenge record-holder Louise Fairfax comfortably defended her title in the women's race. Fairfax also led the field through every checkpoint, clearing out to win in 6:02:39. The 45-year old was 24th overall, 27 minutes clear of the second woman, Judy Knight of Queenstown.

1996 was the first time in the nine year history of the race that the winners of both the men's and women's races also claimed the King and Queen of the Mountain titles for being the first to Luxmore Hut. Last year Fairfax was edged out by Auckland orienteer Katie Fettes on the climb, but in Fettes' absence Fairfax held a sizable lead by the hut checkpoint.

The best-performed DOC member in the Challenge was veteran Nic Church, who recorded 6:07:32 to come home in 26th position (and ninth veteran male). Bruce McLeod completed the circuit in 6:25:13, for 42nd place. After recovering from his state of exhaustion, McLeod spoke exclusively to DOCument: "It's a bloody long way. Don't do it." Other orienteers to complete the Challenge included SOC members Evan France (107th) and David McDiarmid (140th).

Run in conjunction with the Kepler Challenge was the Luxmore Grunt. This 28km mountain run covers the 14km up to Luxmore Hut and down again. It was won in 2:03:50 by race record-holder Andrew Town. Nine minutes behind him in second place was up-and-coming Christchurch athlete and orienteer, 17-year old Aaron Prince. Southland orienteer and team member Michal Glowacki also made the top ten, finishing seventh in

2:21:25. Not only did Glowacki run strongly, but he also won a spot prize, drawn at the prize-giving the following morning. Unfortunately, being truly dedicated to our sport, Michal was already on his way to SOC's Omaui event so couldn't claim his petrol vouchers.

The sole DOC member in the Grunt was Wayne Patrick, who ran strongly on the uphill section but faded to finish 22nd in 2:32:04. The anticipated battle between the father and son SOC competitors, Alan and Steve Foote, turned out to be one-sided. Youth and vigour proved no match for age and experience, with Alan finishing in 46th place, a tad under half an hour ahead of his son, who placed 88th of the 112 competitors.

As per usual the organisation was superb, the weather was immaculate (if the sunburn was a valid indicator) and the atmosphere was friendly. The orienteers competing proved that they could foot it with some of the best endurance athletes in the country. I would personally encourage anyone to enter - at least the Grunt - if only to motivate you to get out there.

Wayne Patrick.
